All art is subjective because it relies upon the opinions of its viewers. That said, whether art is good or bad isn't just about subjective views. Popular opinion can be swayed by the fame of the artist, the amount of exposure a piece of art has, and the impact of societal norms at the time.

Is Art Subjective? Why It Needs to Be - Adventures with Art

Color is the element of art that is produced when light, striking an object, is reflected back to the eye: that's the objective definition. But in art design, color has a slew of attributes which are primarily subjective. Those include characteristics such as harmony — when two or more colors are brought together and produce a satisfying effective response; and temperature — a blue is ...
